Created by Dorothy Orde, Citizenship Instructor at Worthington ABE
Sept 2011

Instructions: Cut apart and mount individual parts on construction paper strips.
Use one color for the important information (example: green) and one color for the matching information (example: orange).
Option 1: Put the matching information strips on a table. Pass out the important information strips to students and have them find the match. Then share matches with the class.
Option 2: Pass out one of each color strips randomly to students. Have students move around the room to find the student that matches. Instruct students that they will keep the green strip and give the orange strip to another student. When every one is finished, share the matches.
